

The Ronald McDonald House® is a temporary residential facility for the immediate families of seriously ill children undergoing medical treatment at an Albuquerque health care facility. It provides a warm and comfortable, home-like environment for families where they can relax and share their thoughts and concerns with other people who are confronting similar problems. In addition, the nominal nightly donation helps to ease the financial burden.

Since 1982, Ronald McDonald House Charities of New Mexico® has provided unduplicated services to families with ill children from traditionally underserved rural populations. Every year hundreds of families in crisis find temporary lodging in the House That Love Built. In 2008 we increased program capacity from 18 to 30 family lodging rooms and opened the Ronald McDonald Family Room® in UNM Children’s Hospital where families find respite. This program growth will help us stay in pace with the growing medical needs that are facing families.
